Whitman ruling: Money trumps popular vote

What a shame that long time Bedford residents have to live with the aftereffects of one spoiled person.

I cringe to think of all the money wasted that could have went to the schools or roads.

Paul Whitman was one of the nicest people you could ever meet or work for. That all ended when Jon took over.

Ask how many salespeople or mechanics are still employed that were long-time employees of Paul.

Whitman Center = tax write-off.

This just shows that big money triumphs again, to heck with the majority vote. I hope he can live with himself.
