

Arsenic And Old Lace To Be PresentedSenior Play Preparation Proceeds;
Play 17th, 18th, And 19th Of April

The Senior Play Arsenic and Old Lace, is to be presented April 17th, 18th, and 19th, in the Lambertville Elementary School Auditorium.

The tale of Arsenic and Old Lace is familiar to most people. The play was written by Joseph Kesselring and published in 1941. The play was presented by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse at the Fulton Theater in New York on August 18, 1941, with a cast of fourteen. Most of the actors and actresses that performed in this presentation are unknown. Boris Karloff is the only renown actor that appeared. Tom Sorosiak, who is Jonothan Brewster in the play, is supposed to imitate Boris Karloff. He does this very effectvely.

Gary Fenchuk, who portrays Mortimer Brewster, and Charlie Reinhold, who portrays Teddy Brewster, are the two male leading roles in Arsenic and Old Lace. They are pictured here, but not in their costumes for the play.

The cast is doing well, memorizing lines for Act I and Act II respectively. The female cast members, Laurie Hilde Shody Rosselit and Janis Dembroder, are having a difficult time learning their lines due to the fact they are swamped by the luscious looking male members of the cast.

Gary Fenchuck

Charles Reinhold

"ARSENIC AND OLD LACE" TO BE PRESENTED NEXT WEEK

Janice Dombroder

Tom Sorosiak

The annual Senior Play will be presented April 17th, 18th, and 19th at the Lambertville school. "Arsenic and Old Lace," a well-known play, is being produced and directed by one of our high school English teachers, Miss Dzingleski.

Tickets for the play will be sold at the showcase in the mornings and between sessions. For students the price of 75¢ is required, for adults the price of $1.00 is required.

The cast members have anxiously assured us the play will be spectacular in all respects. The support of all Seniors is urged. Remember, this is the last money-making project the Senior class is having. The work and effort put (cont'd next col.)

into the play for next week is great. Let's not let this work be in vain. Get out and sell tickets, buy tickets, and go to the play!

The tale "Arsenic and Old Lace," is humorous and deliciously interesting. Come and watch two (supposedly sane) old women carry on their charities of relief for old men by poisoning them with elderberry wine. Come! If you don't you'll be missing one of the major events of the school year.

COME ON SENIORS!
GET ON THE BALL!!!